

Height Adjustable Bed Mechanism – Profiling & Lifting

Recent legislation means that if someone is being cared for by a professional health care worker then the adjustable bed must also be height adjustable. This is necessary to reduce back injury to professional carers but does add a substantial amount to the price. If price is not the main priority this is a great option in order to have a beautifully made home style bed from our range of colours and styles available as opposed to nursing care beds which are specifically designed to be fully profiling and height adjustable.
