

Mattress Transfer Edges

To assist getting in and out of bed, firmer transfer edges are available at the point of ordering any of our mattresses.

In order to have good support from your mattress, it should be flexible enough to mold to your body shape reducing pressure points. This is good for the area where you sleep but for anyone with mobility problems, the additional pressure when sitting on the side of the mattress will cause the edge to compress making it difficult to get out.

The transfer edges are 4" (10cm) wide and the full 8" (20cm) depth.

They are made from a High Resistance grade foam and are fitted to both sides of the mattress to prevent the mattress twisting if it is used on an adjustable bed base.

To add the option of Mattress Transfer Edges

Contact us as soon as you have placed an order for a bed or mattress and we add this to your order.

Payment can be made over the phone, via PayPal or bank transfer.

Price Excluding VAT	40
Price Including VAT	48